Ah Quon McElrath, retired ILWU social worker and community activist, passed away on December 11, 2008 at the age of 92. AQ, as she was known to one and all, wanted no memorial service, but this Celebration of Life allows us to collectively remember her.

AQ was larger than life with her words, her vision, and her passion. She fought the good fight for working men and women and others who had no champion. AQ's legacy is the union she helped to build and the many advocates and activists she nurtured.

We invite you all to come and celebrate the life of Ah Quon McElrath—a tribute and mahalo to a great woman who touched so many lives and will continue to inspire and motivate us all.
